The Anarchist Decision.

CHICAGO, November 2.—The first news of the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of the condemned Anarchists was taken to the county jail by an Associated Press reporter, a few minutes after it had been received from Washington. Jailor Felt expressed no astonishment, saying merely, "Well, it's just what we expected." There were no visitors in the jail, and the prisoners were all in their cells when the news arrived. A note was sent up to Spies, telling him the writ had been denied, and asking if he had any statement to make in regard to the matter. Spies was sitting in his cell, busily engaged with some manuscript. He read the note and returned it with the short answer:

"I HAVE NOTHING TO SAY."

None of the other prisoners would say anything either.

Within fifteen minutes after the verdict was announced, eight or ten officers, in citizen's clothes, appeared and quietly disposed themselves about the building and neighborhood. Without any previous intimation, a rule was quickly put in force, and no one was allowed to enter the building during the afternoon, except the officers, reporters and relations of the Anarchists.

As soon as the news from Washington had generally circulated through the city, a miscellaneous rush of people came to see the condemned men before it was too late. They entered the sheriff's office in droves, but the busy deputy who guarded the way to the jail yard was obstinate. Friends of the doomed, bearing baskets of delicacies for them.

BEGGED ADMITTANCE.

The dainties were passed in, but only relatives gained an entrance.

Sheriff Matson said: "I don't want to make any fuss about it; but the visits of other Anarchists have got to stop. Personally, I would like to grant the doomed men all the favors I could, but I don't think it would be wise to do so, and it may seem foolish, and perhaps is foolish, but their friends MIGHT GIVE THEM DAGGERS OR POISON, and although, if they wanted to kill themselves, we might be powerless to prevent it; still, I shouldn't like to have it said that I had attended to my duty the suicides might have been prevented."

The first of the relatives of the condemned men to visit the jail was Mrs. Engel. She moved about in a nervous manner, as though she could scarcely realize that the last glimmer of hope had been broken. Ling's aunt and a young lady cousin and one of his admirers came next. They were all downcast, with traces of tears on their cheeks; but they had not been talking to the reckless bombmaker five minutes when they were all laughing, and their mirth sounded strangely incongruous with the feelings of most of those present.

Frank Reifeld, of the Arbeiter Zeitung, came next, shortly followed by Spies' two brothers and his mother, who seemed to feel his sorrow deeply. Mrs. Parsons and her two children came, and with them a lady interested in the work of the Amnesty Association. Every one of the prisoners had the semblance, at least, of positively cheerful spirits. Mr. Reifeld, after leaving the jail, said: "It is useless to ask those men to sign a petition to the Governor for their lives. I have just been talking to them and

THEY LAUGH AT THE IDEA."

A significant incident of the day had its scene at the police headquarters. The moment the word of the decision was received, all the detectives in the building disappeared with amazing suddenness. As to what districts or places they were assigned, their superiors were non-committal. It is known, however, that for some days the men have had sealed instructions to act as soon as the decision was received.

"WE WILL NOT BE CAUGHT NAPPING," was all the officials would say. It is asserted that preparations are already going on for the hanging. The ropes, it is said, have been ordered. An additional scaffold will have to be built, and preparations were going on for this to-day. Already the morbidly curious of Chicago, as well as outside, are sending in requests for tickets to get into the jail on the 11th inst.

LETTERS BY THE SCORE

are arriving daily from provincial journalists, who desire to have a representative on hand. They will all be doomed to disappointment. The sheriff will admit only representatives of the city press, the press associations, members of the jury and attorneys, as provided by law. Everything is perfectly quiet in and around the jail, and, in fact, all over the whole city. The denial of the writ was what was universally expected here. The police are PREPARED FOR ANY EMERGENCY, though they say they have no fear of open violence.

The police have all thought the Supreme Court would not interfere, and the general impression among them is effect on November 11th. The sentiment of the police is one of satisfaction at the result of the hearing in the Supreme Court. Captain Buckley said: "So the Supreme Court has upheld the right of the United States verdict! It is a retribution for the murder of the officers, whose wives are now widows and children orphans. I trust and believe the governor will not interfere." This is a fair expression of the police officials and men.

AT SPRINGFIELD.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., November 2.—There is absolutely nothing to be said as to the probable action of the governor in the condemned Anarchists' case, as his excellency declines to say anything on the subject. The decision of the United States Supreme Court was made known to him shortly before noon to-day and his features at once assumed an expression of real gravity. He received a number of letters and petitions on the subject to-day, and it is asserted that three Chicago ladies visited him in the interest of the condemned men. The feeling is almost universal here that with the sentence of the court, and that the conditions are such that he cannot. There is a bare possibility that he may interfere with clemency in the interest of Klatschen and Schwab, though he has not said anything to indicate even this. This afternoon, a small boy appeared at one of the most prominent downtown corners, provided with a supply of pamphlets, containing to Governor Oglesby in behalf of the condemned men. Officer Birmingham quickly put the boy to flight, by telling him he would arrest him if he did not stop selling the books. There is nothing seditious about the pamphlets, it being merely Trumbull's speech. It is bound, and brilliantly entitled: "Was it a fair trial?—An Appeal to the Governor of Illinois, in Behalf of the Condemned Anarchists."

The sergeant of the Central Police detail said the officer acted on his own judgment. "He was probably misled by the general style of the title." The sergeant added: "But I think it is much better at the present time that circulars of even such a kind as this be stopped, as it can only stir up the people without doing any good."

The only persons except the relatives who had any extended conversation with the condemned men, to-day, were M. W. Salter, a lecturer, and H. B. Lloyd, a newspaper editorial writer. They were at the cell doors for two hours. The gentlemen kept their object a profound secret, but it is intimated that their visit had something to do with a scheme to get two or three of the Chicago newspapers to come out editorially in favor of a commutation of sentence. The visitors said the significance of their visit would develop in a few days. Mr. Salter said Fielden had stated that he was misrepresented when a local paper made him say, "He would not ask Governor Oglesby to pardon him. By that, it is understood that Fielden will ask for commutation of sentence."

Captain Black said to a reporter, this evening, that he was disappointed, but not surprised at the action of the Supreme Court, as they were clearly under the decisions of the Supreme Court prior to this time. Captain Black and a large party will go to Springfield next Tuesday, to present a petition for commutation to the governor.

Ex-Governor Palmer, this evening, said to a reporter that he did not believe Governor Oglesby would interfere with the execution of the court's sentence upon the condemned men. "The highest court in the land," said Governor Palmer, "have

DECREED THIS VERDICT A JUST ONE.

Governor Oglesby is not going to be swayed in his manifest duty by any trifling consideration as far as the idea of his being inhuman to hang these men. I can see no sense in that. They killed several policemen, didn't they? and wounded many more? Was that humanity?"

A Satisfactory Reply.

WASHINGTON, October 2.—A delegation, headed by ex-Justice Strong, representing the American Bible Conference and several religious and missionary societies called upon the President, to-day, to urge upon him a modification of the order of the Interior Department, prohibiting the use of the Indian language in the Indian schools. The President's reply was entirely satisfactory to the delegation. He said it was not intended that the order should be so literally construed as to forbid religious instruction in the Indian language, and that the recent annual report of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs has made this clear.

To Be Pardoned.

MADRID, November 2.—The queen regent has acceded to the Duke of Seville's petition for pardon. The government stipulates that before he returns to Spain he must return for a few months to Maton Island, whither he was banished, until the petition has been formally granted.

A Fiend Murders His Wife and Children

AND SETS FIRE TO HIS HOUSE.

The Terrible Fate of the Propeller Vernon's Crew and Passengers—General News.

The Model Horror.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., November 2.—John Model, a silk weaver, living at Hebron, shot his wife last night and then set fire to the house. Two children were burned to death. Model fled, but was afterwards arrested.

Model had been on a spree for a week, and when himself was a quiet, good-natured fellow, but drink made him crazy. He tells the following story: "Last night, I told my wife I was going to kill myself. She said she wanted to die too. An agreement was then made that the whole family die together, two boys, aged 3 and 6, and the mother, who expected to be confined again in a month. During the night, I brought the two children from the adjoining room and placed them in the bed with their mother and set fire to the bed, but the smothering process was too slow, so I got a shotgun and fired both barrels into my wife's breast, killing her instantly. The flames then spread and soon smothered both the children. I then went down stairs, tapped on the window of the lower tenement bedroom and called them to come in and see what I had done." It is said that Model thought that certain neighbors were too familiar with his wife, that he accused her, and this caused the quarrel, and hence the agreement to kill all of the family.

Twenty-two Recovered.

MILWAUKEE, November 2.—Five fishing tugs went out from Two Rivers, Wis., to-day, and brought back the bodies of seventeen men and two women, who had been aboard the foundered propeller Vernon, making twenty-two bodies that have been recovered. The engine house at Two Rivers was turned into a morgue, where the remains were stretched side by side, to enable identification by relatives and friends. Only seven bodies were identified. Their names are: George Thorpe, of Ogdensburg, N. Y., captain of the Vernon; John Sullivan, Chicago, first mate; Larry Higgins, Chicago, second mate; Martin Lebeau, Chicago, steward; Henry Lebeau, Chicago, porter; Fred Burk, Chicago, clerk; Roy Hazleton, Chicago, cabin boy; E. B. Borland, of Milwaukee, a passenger. In the pockets of the clothes worn by one of the unidentified was a letter postmarked Port Washington, and addressed to Adolph Hanzlbarth, Milwaukee. There is little doubt that the man is the person addressed. There is nothing about the others that will enable identification, unless viewed by acquaintances. Several are undoubtedly deck hands, picked up at various ports. The bodies were found about eight miles east of Two Rivers. Five were floating together. The others were scattered, but not far distant. A bunch of letters was found on the body of Captain Thorpe, but they will not be opened till the inquest. His watch stopped at 3.55, and it was undoubtedly at this hour on Saturday morning that the propeller went to the bottom.

Western Whispers.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 2.—Notice was given in the United States Circuit Court, to-day, that an appeal would be taken in the well-known Sharon-Hill case, in which Sharon sued Sarah Hill, to have the marriage contract declared void. The decision was originally rendered in favor of plaintiff. Judge Sawyer entered an order allowing the appeal to the United States Supreme Court.

The ship Seminoles, which recently engaged in an ocean race from New York with the Charmer, has been sold to a firm in this city, and will be put in the lumber trade on this coast.

Governor Torres of Sonora, recently informed Governor Waterman that ex-Senate Senator D. J. Creighton, the fugitive jury-fixer, was in Guaymas and he offered, if a formal demand was made upon him, to order the arrest of Creighton and return him to American soil. Governor Torres said he was well aware that the offense of which Creighton was convicted was not extraditable, but as a friendly act on the part of the Mexican officials he would deliver him to the Californian officers. The papers have been prepared here and forwarded to Governor Waterman for his signature, and will be sent to Hermosillo, the capital of Sonora, by a messenger, authorized to arrest Creighton and bring him back here for sentence, if, in the meantime, he has not left the country.

Ye Bold Highwayman.

HOLBROOK, Ariz., November 2.—The north and south mails were held up by one man about midnight on October 31st, between St. Johns and Navajo. The mail going south was taken first, and the driver was then the north-going mail, the highwayman detained him two hours until the mail going north came along, which was also robbed. There were no passengers with the south mail. The north mail carried one passenger, who was robbed of $90.

The Arbitration Scheme.

LONDON, November 2.—The Daily News, commenting on the arbitration memorial, says that President Cleveland's reply to the British delegation, without absolutely committing his government to the establishment of a permanent tribunal, shows every disposition to entertain the scheme. The Standard says: The reply is laconic, and perhaps a trifle oracular, but we gather from the caution exhibited, that he does not see his way to the immediate maturing of such a treaty. The delegation itself can scarcely have failed to discern that the President's language contained a covert rebuke to their too sanguine hopes.

A Hawaiian Concession.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 2.—Mail advices from the Hawaiian Islands are to the effect that the Hawaiian government has decided to cede Pearl River harbor to the United States as a coaling station, but provision is made that in case the present reciprocity treaty is abrogated, that the American government shall relinquish the harbor. The harbor in question is near Honolulu, and is regarded as the finest in the Hawaiian group. Whether the harbor will be accepted with the conditions attached is not known.

With Time and Patience.

LONDON, November 2.—Balfour has written a letter, in which he says he does not doubt that Ireland, with time and patience, will see the law again in a position of supremacy, from which it ought never to have been allowed to fall. The task of restoring law is not easy, but sympathy encourages those engaged upon it.

CHICAGO, November 2.—A Billings, Mont., special says: After watching the Indians for three weeks, the military allowed 200 of them to escape last night. Much uneasiness prevails as to the people along the Yellowstone River. One hundred and fifty Nez Percés have arrived on the Crow reservation.

Murderous Plantation Hands.

NEW ORLEANS, November 2.—A dispatch to the merchants here from a planter named Lacassagne, of Tigerville, says: "The strikers shot four of my laborers this morning, from ambush. I have telegraphed to the governor for troops. Please see that they get off at once." The Washington artillery were informed of the tenor of the dispatch, and the officers are awaiting the action of the governor. Yesterday, forty-five white laborers were sent to the Lacassagne plantation, to fill the places of the strikers, but whether the four men ambushed and shot this morning were among this number or of those remaining upon the plantation is not known here.

A special to the Times-Democrat, from Tigerville, says, regarding the shooting on the Greenwood plantation, this morning, that no one was killed, but several persons were slightly hurt. All is quiet now.

NEW YORK, November 3.—The executive committee of the trunk lines decided the matter of export rates at its meeting to-day. The Grand Trunk acquiesced in the decision of the committee. Afterwards, a business meeting of the association was held. The following were elected for the ensuing year: President, W. A. Towers; Vice-Presidents, Elmer Washburne, H. E. Alvered, and Azazel Ames; Secretary, J. H. Sanders; Treasurer, J. Clay, Jr.; Executive Committee—J. L. Brush, Thomas B. Wales, Jr., Granville Stuart, Adam Carl, Thomas Sturgis, F. C.
